The Book of Ezekiel, Chapter 14

IEZEKIHΛ ΙΔ΄

Each verse opens with the running Greek, an English translation, and a discourse note (its connective, relation, and role in the argument). Below follows the word-by-word breakdown in six tiers: gloss, case (color), parsing, syntax, semantic force, and a | lexical note.

CASE ■ Nominative ■ Genitive ■ Dative ■ Accusative ■ Vocative ■ Verb (no case) ■ Indeclinable

Discourse notes head each verse: relation · connective · clause-flow. Indentation marks prominence — flush-left = main line of argument; indented = supporting / subordinate material.

Theme

Idolatrous inquirers and false prophecy cannot avert judgment, even for Noah, Daniel, and Job.

Translation & textual notes

The Greek text of Ezekiel 14 presents two tightly joined prophetic movements. In the first, elders of Israel come to Ezekiel seeking an oracle, but the Lord exposes the inquiry as corrupt before any question is voiced: their inner deliberations and stumbling guilt already occupy the place that belongs to God. It therefore sharpens Ezekiel's theology of idolatry by locating apostasy not only in visible idol forms but in entrenched interior loyalties, and it extends responsibility both to the inquirer and to the prophet who colludes in false mediation. The second movement widens from individual consultation to national catastrophe through a sequence of four exemplary judgments: famine, wild beasts, sword, and pestilence.

The repeated appeal to Noah, Daniel, and Job makes the point with deliberate force: even extraordinary righteousness cannot simply cover a rebellious community under divine judgment. The closing remnant saying prevents the chapter from being heard as caprice, because the survivors themselves become evidence that Jerusalem's punishment was morally intelligible and not inflicted in vain.

Discourse structure of the chapter

A · 14:1-5

Idolatrous inquirers are exposed before they speak

The elders arrive as if to seek prophetic counsel, but the Lord immediately discloses the hidden issue: inwardly cherished offenses already govern their approach. The prophet must therefore answer the heart beneath the question, because divine response targets the interior estrangement that has gripped Israel.

B · 14:6-11

Repentance is demanded and false consultation is judged

Israel is summoned to turn back from practiced impiety. Anyone, whether Israelite or resident alien, who comes while remaining estranged will meet the Lord's own judicial answer, and even the compromised prophet shares the guilt so that the covenant people may cease from wandering and defilement.

C · 14:12-20

Noah, Daniel, and Job could save only themselves

A series of hypothetical judgments on a sinful land unfolds through famine, wild beasts, sword, and pestilence. In every case the presence of paradigmatically righteous figures cannot shield sons, daughters, or society at large; righteousness is personally effective but not socially transferable under judgment.

D · 14:21-23

Jerusalem's remnant will vindicate the justice of the Lord

The four judgments are then applied directly to Jerusalem. Yet a surviving remnant will come out, and its visible ways and schemes will console the exiles by demonstrating that the Lord's severe acts were not empty or unjust but proportionate to the city's corruption.

On the labels. Parsing gives Tense·Voice·Mood·Person·Number (+ Case·Number·Gender for participles) and lemma. The syntactic-function and semantic-force tiers follow standard intermediate-grammar categories (e.g. Wallace, Greek Grammar Beyond the Basics); both involve interpretive judgment, and the majority reading has been chosen where opinions differ. Lexical notes condense commonly cited data (etymology, sense range, synonym contrasts, NT frequency, OT/LXX echoes) and are no substitute for a lexicon.

On the discourse tier. Discourse structure operates above the word, so it is shown at the clause/verse level (the connective, the relation it signals, and the role of the clause) and summarized in the chapter outline. Relation labels, any proposed chiasm, and the paragraph divisions reflect a common reading of the argument; other discourse analyses segment and label some relations differently.
